
ANGELA C. LI

angelaconstance.com ♦ angelali@college.harvard.edu ♦ (404) 483-6885

Education

Harvard University

Cambridge, MA

A.B. in Computer Science with secondary field in Mind, Brain, and Behavior, expected May 2014.

Concentration GPA: 3.79. Additional coursework in philosophy, literature, and government.

Alpharetta High School

Alpharetta, GA

Graduated May 2010. National Merit Scholar. President of symphony orchestra, Gay-Straight Alliance, and English honor society. Volunteer at HIV/AIDS clinic and youth empowerment newspaper. Member of varsity math and quiz bowl teams.

Experience

Palantir Technologies

starting June 2013

Software development intern in Palo Alto for Palantir Gotham (government analytics platform).

Harvard School of Engineering and Applied Sciences

Sept. 2012–present

Teaching fellow for Computer Science 50: Introduction to Computer Science. Lead weekly section of 12 students, grade problem sets and midterms, and hold weekly office hours.

Freelance Web Development

Aug. 2011–present

Design and develop websites for clients including GateSwap, Cook Pine Solutions, and various student groups. Created Unfriend Finder, a Facebook application that reached over 350,000 users.

Flow Asia

June–July 2012

Summer intern at Beijing-based web agency. Handled information architecture, design prototyping, and front-end development for mobile sites.

Crimson Summer Academy

June 2011–May 2012

Summer and term-time mentor for financially disadvantaged high school students. Taught algebra, computer programming, and photography; led weekly homework help sessions during school year.

Skills

- ♦ C, Python, HTML5 / CSS, Javascript, PHP, OCaml, SQL, Prolog, and x86 assembly
- ♦ Wordpress, Django, and Joomla!; Adobe InDesign, Illustrator, and Photoshop
- ♦ Mandarin Chinese, French, Spanish, and German

Activities

The Harvard Crimson

Web Design Executive + Online Design Comp Director (previously Magazine Design Chair)

Women in Computer Science

Secretary + Twitter Sensei